PLEASE READ: Political contributions are not deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes. NC election laws require that the information above is collected from each donor. Individual donations that sum to more than $50.00 in an election period must be publicly disclosed. Contributions from corporations, business entities, labor unions, professional associations, or insurance companies are prohibited. An individual may contribute up to $5,200 per election.

*Only individuals can contribute (not couples). Contributions from a joint account will be attributable to the signer of the check unless a portion (but not all) is clearly attributable to the other party of the account as shown on Side B (over).

SIDE B // FOR JOINT ACCOUNTS WHEN BOTH PARTIES CONTRIBUTE

Fill out this side when a portion of the contribution from a joint account is attributable to the other party (listed below) of the account, in addition to the signer of the check (SIDE A). The amounts shown for each individual must add up to the amount of the check.
